Clues:

1. This parking lot along Beach Drive was once a safe landing point for a group of cows who swam ashore after having been pushed overboard from paddle steamers in the late 1800's.
2. Located along Beach Drive, this beloved sun-bathing beach is known to the Songhees First Nations as Sitchanalth. Find the cairn for this Lekwungen place name and take a photo of it.
3. Situated offshore from Beach Drive is a small island that goes by many names. What are two of the names for this island? Take a photo of this island from shore.
4. There are four metal sculptures located in Queen's Park near the Oak Bay Marina created by Ken Hall. What do these metal sculptures depict? Take a photo of this sculpture.
5. A recreation park that was established as a bicycle racing track to encourage use of the streetcar system by the Victoria Railway and Electric Lighting Company. Which park is this? Take a photo with your bicycle at the park when you get there.
6. Located on Radcliff Lane on a point of land is an undeveloped, natural park area. This park features rock outcrops, native flora and fauna, magnificent views of the ocean, Olympic Mountains, Mount Baker, and the occasional bird watcher. What kinds of sea life can you see here? Take a photo at this location.
7. Situated off Island Road is the entrance to Anderson Hill Park. At the top of this hill, there is a Songhees History cairn marking the significance of this vantage point. Ride to the top of this hill and find the cairn. What is the W̱SÁNEĆ name of the T'sartlip First Nation artist who created this cairn artwork? Take a photo of this special place.
